MESSAGE

I am pleased to learn that the Arunachal Pradesh Private Educational Institutions Regulatory Commission is launching its official website.

In today's digital-first world, an official website has become an indispensable tool for regulatory institutions to effectively discharge their responsibilities. It promotes transparency, accountability, and efficiency by providing a dependable platform for sharing rules, guidelines, notifications, and other essential information with stakeholders and the public. A thoughtfully designed portal also ensures inclusivity by making information accessible to all, including persons with disabilities, in accordance with modern accessibility standards. By offering easy access to policies, procedures, and important updates, such a platform strengthens trust, encourages compliance, and enhances public engagement.

I am confident that this education-focused initiative of Arunachal Pradesh Private Educational Institutions Regulatory Commission will greatly facilitate the dissemination of information with clarity and openness, while further strengthening the regulatory framework and supporting the advancement of quality education in Arunachal Pradesh.

Jai Hind.
